

Even in death, she made New York's biggest newspaper change its position.

H.P.B. Centuries ahead of her time. A major influence on many of history's greatest minds. Including William Butler Yeats, Albert Einstein, Thomas Edison, Sir William Crookes, T.S. Elliot, William James, Camille Flammarion, James Ralston Skinner, A.E. Russell, Abner Doubleday, Mohandas K. Gandhi, Wassily Kandinsky, Paul Klee, Paul Gauguin, and Alexander Scriabin.

A strong inspiration on modern day thinkers, too, such as Elizabeth Kübler-Ross, Brian Weiss, Jean Houston, Ken Wilbur, Huston Smith, Joseph Campbell, Amit Goswami, Theodore Roszak, Rupert Sheldrake, Elvis Presley and Nicholas Roerich, just to name a few.

Now, in this extraordinary and compelling work, you shall clearly understand why.

The year was 1892, the newspaper was New York's venerable Sun and the aforementioned "she" was Madame Helena Petrovna Blavatsky. "H.P.B." to most.

Embarrassing enough that the Sun had been forced to run a lengthy retraction to an earlier editorial which brazenly accused her of immorality and other grave misdeeds. More embarrassing still for the paper: H.P.B. achieved this unprecedented apology post mortem.

Which is not all that surprising for a woman who is widely considered to be the mother of the modern reincarnation, karma, death and dying movements. As well as the first outspoken advocate of women's rights nearly a century before it was fashionable to be one.

In their newly revised and enhanced edition of H.P.B., The Extraordinary Life & Influence of Helena Blavatsky, Founder of the Modern Theosophical Movement, Cranston and Williams capture the spirit and essence of a woman who, lightyears before her time, helped restore hope and enlighten the scientific and religious worlds. NY Sun, Sept. 26, 1892 - "A woman who, for one reason or another, has kept the whole world...two hemispheres- talking of her, disputing about her, defending or assailing her character and motives, joining her enterprise or opposing it might and main, and in her death being as much talked about between two continents as an emperor, must have been a remarkable person."

Jeremy P. Tarcher, Publisher - "...featuring materials never printed before, Sylvia Cranston tells the remarkable story of the founder of the Theosophical Movement. A visionary trailblazer, H.P.B. more than any other person, was responsible for the introduction of Eastern religious and spiritual thinking into Western religion, science, psychology, art, music and literature."
